a mother offers letter in response to that of her daughter's, wherein is explained how why + when she leaves her husband + flip to new lover
July 1, 1967 my dear daughter dorthy, I have received your letter this morning July 1st. Please write to me soon + have the letter registered so I can sign for it. We have new postmen for the summer + I am afraid it will be delivered to someone else's house. Take care, love, Mother. P.s.

Everyone is having trouble with letters being lost

EXCERPTS FROM LETTERS ON THE SAME THEME

dear Dorothy, this phallic symbol will be truly yours only after you give me all the details, we're dying to know. We're happy for you. R.T. that goes for me too. MARIANNE. That goes for me too.

dear dorthy, just a short note to let you know I received your letter with its startling news. It's hard to say anything. I'm disturbed and distressed about it, but naturally wish that it will turn out well for you... a gauge of my friendship and fondness for you is the shock I feel about your move... it took great courage on your part. Shakespeare is dangerous. Anthony + Cleopatra should be read only when one is nineteen or over fifty... I wish you happiness as I always have + always will. Mr. (...) is a lucky fellow.

Write whenever you can + want to and let me know wherever you are so that you will not be lost to Cambridge. As always, Albert July 5, 1967

July 6, 1967 my dear daughter Dorothy, received your letter this morning and was so glad you arrived safe + happy. May god bless you Dorothy and if you are happy, so am I... you're smart and you always do the right thing... love, MOTHER

July 11, 1967 dear Dorothy, you're insane... nevertheless I hope that you are happy. You are involved in events that I do not really understand, I trust to your judgment. Your new situation fills me with surprise + uncertainty. The surprise will diminish + you will convince me (I am sure) that you have acted for the best... my thoughts are with you. With love, JUNE

July 6, 1967 dorthy dear, what a funny girl! Yes I was amazed, delighted + crestfallen by your recent movements. Vive Dorothy! You are giving a new sense to our tedious lives... you're for life MAURICE

Dear Dorothy, such a life decision indicates the successful termination of psychoanalysis... FRANK
